NATIONAL PONY CLUB RALLIES

On the sports page of a leading metropolitan daily newspaper there recently appeared an article about the National Rally of the U. S. Pony Clubs, held a fortnight ago near Nashville under the auspices of the Middle Tennessee Club, referring to the occasion as the U. S. Junior Olympics. Nothing could be more erroneous. In point of fact the organisation's publication "Guide to Rules for Rallies" states: "U. S. Pony Club rallies are not to be considered as Junior Olympic Trials."

This confusion is, however, quite understandable. In addition to written tests on the care and management of the horse, on diseases and injuries, and on foxhunting, plus inspection of stables, the rallies include riding tests based on the Olympic Three Day Event—dressage, cross country endurance and stadium jumping phases. There are now more than 70 Pony Clubs in the United States extending from Massachusetts to California. At this year's rally there were five B Teams and seven C Teams, each with four riders and a helper, from points as widely scattered as Alabama, Illinois and Massachusetts. Undeniably there are Olympic and national aspects to these gatherings. Nevertheless the selection of the best riders and the best horses is emphatically NOT their primary purpose.

What is their purpose? Again we turn to the text of the "Guide for Rules to Rallies" which states: "Their purpose is rather to develop a large number of well rounded, horse minded children from which will come the polo players, foxhunters, steeplechase riders and combined training competitors of the future." From the point of view of the Pony Clubs a well rounded member is one who can ride a horse or a pony through the various phases of a rally; who can take a green horse and school it to perform at this level; who can feed, water, groom and take care of minor diseases and injuries and of major ones on an emergency basis; who can clean clothes, boots, tack and other equipment; who has a broad general knowledge of horsemanship and of horse sports; and who practices these skills, not only during rallies, but before and after as a matter of habit. For instance was the tack just as clean going home as it was on the way to the rally. Horse minded children are those who will carry this knowledge and enthusiasm over into the balance of their lives.

If the selection of the best horses and riders is not the purpose of

THE CHRONICLE

Pony Club rallies, why have them at all—cannot the desired results be attained by group lessons? The answer to this is no—competition is far too effective a teaching device to be excluded altogether. Almost all of us, children and adults alike, will work much harder if we are committed to matching our knowledge and skill against those of others on a particular day. This is also by far the most effective way of finding out just how much we know and can do. Finally there is nothing like competition to test those who take part as to sportsmanship, the development of which is a major plank in the Pony Club platform. No doubt but what rallies provide special opportunities for instruction.

Pony Club rallies are obviously playing an important part in developing horses and riders of Olympic potential. But Junior Olympic Trials they are not.

Letters

Pete Trone

Dear Sir:

Our Battle Creek Hunt Club Secretary, L. L. ("Pete") Trone, was murdered on Saturday, June 27th. Pete was closing up his drugstore a little before midnight when a young fellow walked in. He ordered a couple of bottles of whisky and then demanded that they be put in a big bag, which was to be filled with money as well as the bottles. Apparently Pete rebelled at being given any such instructions and grappled with the man for the gun. He was shot, the bullet entering at his second rib and coming out at his eighth. Reaching for a gun someone is pointing at you is never a very good idea. I know at various times Pete told me that, in the event of a hold-up, he would never argue.

This was such a wasteful, unnecessary sort of death. Here was a well known, active man doing a great deal of good in various fields, one of which included the Hunt Club. A miserable, troublesome young man who has been involved with the law since he was fifteen and who really had little to gain at any time in this proposed hold-up of his, is the cause of this very substantial loss to the community. The fellow was a parolee and so undoubtedly will wind up in jail for the rest of his life. If I remember rightly, he is 29 right now. I believe, too, he had pink plastic handles on his gun. He wore sandals, which at some point in the chase, he jumped out of and left behind him, not intentionally, but because of their construction. He was in such a hurry to leave the store that he barged through

A Farewell And A Famed Duel

Raleigh Burroughs

Jamaiker, Farewell!
(or A Brooklyn Bettor's Lament)

Jamaiker, oh Jamaiker,
We sadly moin fa thee;
Thy passing leaves a hottache
Fa ow fatoinitee.

Thou madest us feel welcome,
So uttalee at home,
That in ya lovin mem'ry
We dedicate this pome.

Thy unifawmed policemen
Protected us from hom;
And evah we'll remembah
Ya graciousness and chom.

That thou wouldst soon be closin
We cudden realize;
An when we left forevah

The fun we had togethah
In reminiscence glows
When we were only living

Jamaiker, oh Jamaiker,
Where we was won't to turl,
It busts us up to see ya

Uncle Matt Daiger

On July 31, Uncle Matt Daiger, a prominent figure with the Maryland Jockey Club and Timonium Fair for many years, left this world for a better one. He was 87 years old.

Uncle Matt had a host of friends, and he will be mourned by many. Most of all, his cheery greeting, "Never felt better and never had less," will be missed.

Mr. Daiger went with William R. Riggs when the Maryland Jockey Club was revived at Pimlico in 1898.

With the Riggs organization, he learned the value of money. The outfit was not exactly lavish in its spending for customer comfort, or careless in throwing around money to attract good horses.

Damrosch earned $1,380 in winning the 1916 Preakness. The Kentucky Derby was worth $9,750 that year and the Belmont

$4,100. Things picked up after that and in 1919, when Sir Barton became the first to win the Triple Crown, he took the biggest pot from the Preakness. That was $24,500. The Derby had been hiked up too, and was worth $20,825, while the Belmont moved up to $11,950.

Mr. Daiger saw the Preakness purse grow from a pittance to $100,000. It went to $150,000 after his active association with the track had been terminated.

Some years ago, one of Uncle Matt's duties as secretary at Pimlico was to distribute press passes. Whenever I went in for a ducat I felt like an alien of dubious credentials entering the immigration office. Everything was done in a jolly way, but Mr. Daiger always would look up and demand, "Well, who are you?"

Started Duel

This didn't bother me, so long as I got the badge, but some of the important people went wild. It started a duel between the late Mr. George Krehbiel, of the Detroit News, and Uncle Matt, though Mr. Daiger never was aware that there was a war going on.

Mr. Krehbiel, who was as fine a gent as ever bred a horse or blew a daily double, was sensitive about certain things. He liked to have his name spelled correctly and his newspaper connection properly identified, and he felt that after he had met a racetrack official two or three times, the guy should recognize him.

As Preaknesses always come a year apart, and Mr. Krehbiel went to Pimlico only for the Preakness, Uncle Matt saw him only once per annum. That wasn't enough.

Mr. Krehbiel, it should be emphasized, was one of the most popular men in the sports-writing business and was known in New York, Chicago, Kentucky, Louisiana, Florida, California and every other place where horse was pitted against horse on dirt and without wagon.

Everybody Knew George

He could walk into almost any race-track in the country and be recognized and greeted cordially.

At Pimlico, Mr. Daiger asked him for some means of identification.

This did not sit well with Mr. Krehbiel, who wheeled and stomped out of the office, leaving Mr. Daiger mystified, but not particularly concerned.

Mr. Krehbiel went to the office of Mr. David F. Woods, then publicity director of the track, and asked for help. He was not happy at all.

Mr. Woods laughed merrily, and said, "Come on, I'll introduce you."

Mr. Krehbiel grumbled, but went along, was introduced and got his ticket. But he wasn't convinced.

Back in Mr. Woods office, he said, "I'll bet if I go in there again he won't know me."

"It's a bet," agreed Mr. Woods. An amount was fixed upon that both bettors could afford - one dollar.

A few minutes later the test was made. Mr. Krehbiel walked into Mr. Daiger's office and was greeted with "Well, who are you?"

Mr. Woods paid the buck, and that's when the duel between Mr. Daiger and Mr. Krehbiel began - the one Mr. Daiger didn't know was going on.

Each year when Mr. Krehbiel returned to Old Hilltop to cover the Preakness for the Detroit News, he would bet Mr. Woods that Mr. Daiger wouldn't recognize him; and each year Mr. Krehbiel collected one of Mr. Woods' dollars.

Once, Uncle Matt almost got it.

When Mr. Krehbiel presented himself,

Monmouth Park Hurdles

Ralph Shoemaker

Monmouth Park's successful hurdle season came to a conclusion on Saturday August 1, which completed a three day extension period necessitated by earlier rains which had cancelled programs.

The session was highlighted on Wednesday, July 29, with the ninth running of the Midsummer Hurdle Handicap, the richest race of its kind in the world. The race was won by Lazy F. Ranch's Parapet, a 4-year-old son of Daumier-Cocopet, by *Jacopo, who negotiated the about two miles and 12 hurdles in 3.36 3/5, a second slower than the course record set by Cain Hoy Stable's Flying Fury in this race two years ago.

The race was a thriller all the way and the winner finished only a head in front of Richard McGilhagga's High Bhan, an Irish invader making his United States debut. He was just another head in front of Tower Hill Farm's *Langton Breeze. The excitement of the thrilling finish was continued moments later when jockey Tommy Walsh who rode *Langton Breeze, lodged an objection against Parapet.

The objection was quickly overruled by the stewards after a review of the film patrol and Parapet was made the official winner with a returned of $6.80 as the public's second choice.

The winner, excellently ridden by veteran Flint S. Schulhofer, shouldered 150 pounds against 148 on High Bhan and 160 on *Langton Breeze.

The $22,000 Midsummer Hurdle Handicap was the fourth victory and third straight over hurdles for Parapet who picked up $15,000 as the winner and made him the leading money-winning hurdle racer with gleanings of $22,075.

Hurdle Highlights

The highlight event of the hurdle season provided an exciting spectacle for the crowd who made the entry of *Langton Breeze and Mrs. Michael G. Walsh's Independence their even-money choice. Independence, the highweight under 161 pounds, apparently sulked and finished a poor last in the field of seven invitees.

Parapet, who earlier won the Monmouth National Maiden Hurdle Handicap, became the first horse to win both events. He was conditioned for his triumphs by Olag T. Dubassoff, one of the experts of the sport and represented interests of Mrs. W. S. Farrish, of Houston, Texas, and Mrs. R. L. Gerry, of Westbury, N. Y. who are owners of the Lazy F. Ranch.

The Irish invader, High Bhan, commanded unexpected support in the wagering and gave an extremely creditable performance for his initial races over the comparatively cramped and close-cornered course which is greatly different than in his native land.

The leaders commanded the running most of the distance. *Langton Breeze and Parapet were noses apart negotiating the final two hurdles through the stretch run. High Bhan ranged abreast of the pair coming to the last obstacle and made his determined try finishing on the outside.

Wagering on the Midsummer Hurdle reached a total of $185,077 to establish a new record for a hurdle race at Monmouth Park.

Richard McGilhagga of Dublin returned to his native Ireland last weekend after seeing his High Bhan perform. He said he would return for the 36th running of the Temple Gwathmey Steeplechase Handicap and made his 7-year-old the first nominee for the event to be run at Belmont Park, Friday, September 11.

The earnings of Parapet also gave money-won honors to the Lazy F. Ranch followed by Mrs. Ogden Phipps with $5,750, Miss R. Howard Lomas, $4,775 and Tower Hill Farm, $4,275.

Flint F. Schulhofer topped the riders in action with 4 winners, A. P. Smithwick, Thomas Walsh and James Murphy each rode two winners.

H. A. "Jimmy" Jones, trainer at Calumet Farm, says:

"Bardstown gets a daily Absorbine wash to brace his tendons"

"Whether it's an older handicap horse like Bardstown," states Mr. Jones, "or the yearlings just being broken on the farm, those front legs can mean trouble, and at Calumet we give them the best care we know of. That's why I use Absorbine daily to tighten up and cool out the legs of all our string."

Since 1892, a bottle of Absorbine has been standard equipment in the best stables, as an astringent, conditioner, and gentle antiseptic. Used either full strength or in a wash, Absorbine is consistently effective, yet safe—won't cause blistering or loss of hair. The large, long-lasting bottle is still only $2.50 at druggists.

Bardstown, still winning stakes at 7, has earned more than $600,000.

Saratoga Yearling Sires

The 39th annual Saratoga Yearlings Sales, August 10th through August 14th, will offer the progeny of 115 stallions. Following its usual custom, the vendor, Fasig-Tipton Company, Inc., will provide prospective buyers not only a chance to buy yearlings by proven sires but also lists yearlings by young stallions whose first crop are now either 2-year-olds or yearlings. Among the group of sires of 2-year-olds are ten newcomers to the stallion ranks.

The imported Ballydam will have only one yearling sold this summer at public auction, that being Burton D. Chait's brown colt. A stakes winner in England and also in this country, Ballydam is the sire of the current 2-year-old stakes winner Bally Ache whose winnings have included the first division of the Hialeah Juvenile Stakes and the Comely, as well as the Mayflower, and the Belmont Park Juvenile.

Another imported sire, the 2,000 Guineas winner Our Babu, started off well this season with his first crop to race and at Saratoga buyers will have an opportunity to purchase the only fillies to be sold by this sire who was also top weighted at 133 lbs., on the two-year-old Free Handicap in England.

Hasty Road, whose yearlings sold well last year and have won well, will be represented at Saratoga by two colts, one from Thomas H. Bennett's consignment and one from the Kentmere Farm, agent group.

The Arlington Futurity winner, Royal Note, is represented at the track by his first crop this year and his yearlings to be sold at the Spa number four, three fillies (one each from The Annex, Kentmere Farm, Agent and William B. Robinson) and a colt from Fenton Farm.

Only raced as a 2-year-old, Royal Coinage was a stakes winner and was never out of the money. Sire of winners from his first crop to race this year, his progeny at Saratoga will be two colts, one each from Mereworth Farm and Pine Brook Farm.

Burrland Farm is consigning one of the best bred colts in America, by Helioscope, out of Rivaz, and Bwamazon Farm a filly by this young sire whose first crop are now 2-year-olds. Stakes winner of 16 races, Helioscope also set five new track records.

The only filly to be sold at auction this summer (also selling 3 colts) by Mark-Ye-Well is from the J.L. Wiley, agent group. A leading 3-year-old and winner of 14 races, Mark-Ye-Well's first crop are now 2-year-olds.

Narrator, a young sire standing in England, is represented by 2-year-olds at the track this year. His yearling to be sold is the only one to be offered and is an imported bay filly in Meadowview Farms' consignment.

With his first crop now 2-year-olds, Parnassus' only yearling to be offered is a gray colt in the Rockburn Farm consignment. A stakes winner, Parnassus is a half-brother to the stakes winners and sires, General Staff, Noble Impulse and Colonel O'F.

Of interest will be the yearlings representing the first crops of nine stallions. Nashua (second leading money winner) is represented by two colts and two fillies. The imported stallion, Hafiz, is the sire of five colts and one filly to be sold while Fisherman's lone representative is a colt.

Mister Gus is the sire of one colt to be sold and Correspondent will be represented by two fillies and one colt and the remaining American sire, Blue Prince is the sire of the one filly to be offered.

The foreign stallions are headed by a colt and a filly by the undefeated, and World's highest priced stallion, Ribot and these two yearlings are the only ones to be sold at auction this summer. Eubulides, a stakes winner abroad, now standing in this country, will be represented by a colt, and King's Evidence, who was also a stakes winner abroad, is the sire of a yearling colt to be sold at the Spa.

ENGLISH WINNER FOR MELLON

American owner Paul Mellon seems to have a useful two year old in England in the strongly-made grey Goose Creek. Making his second appearance of the season he led from start to finish in the six furlongs Montpelier Stakes of 516 pounds at Brighton to win very easily by two lengths from the favored Hyperion colt Koppernik.

Bred by his owner, Goose Creek is by Requested out of Virginia Water, by Count Fleet.

Inglis of Michigan, who resigned following his recent election as president of the National Association of State Racing Commissioners.

FINNEY ON YEARLING SALES

Columnist Hugh J. McGuire of "The Morning Telegraph" recently caught Humphrey Finney, president of the Fasig-Tipton Co., in an expansive and confessional mood. His account of the interview is as follows: - "Finney points out that while all other animals are sold when in their best market condition, Thoroughbreds are sold by the calendar. The tendency toward syndication makes for late foals with the results that many fine animals are not mature by present sales dates. He would not sell any yearlings before the first of October. Reminding that he was speaking only for himself and not his company, he said in his usual forthright manner, 'It would require the cooperation of both sales companies and would play hell with us at Saratoga. It would also require breeders to carry their yearlings longer, but they would gain by allowing the animals to grow normally rather than having to fatten them. A better racing animal would be turned out.'"

NO INFLATION AT CHARLES TOWN

What with Vice President Nixon chasing in one direction after inflation and the steelworkers' Mr. McDonald chasing off in the exact opposite direction with inflation hard after him, and what with the price of hot dogs and even programs going up and up, it is a relief to look over the price list for Charles Town Race Track. Take a look at this.

General admission - 50¢ Charles Town, $2.00 N.Y. tracks; Club house - $1.00 Charles Town, $5.00 N.Y. tracks; Parking - Free Charles Town, 50¢ N.Y. tracks; Programs - 15¢ Charles Town, 25¢ N.Y. tracks. And the Charles Town club house for which you have to pay that huge sum of $1.00 for admission is airconditioned too.

How Messrs Ben and Herman Cohen and Lou Pondfield can run a race track with prices like that, I wouldn't know, but it sure is nice for the customers.

The Cohens and Pondfield who own and run Pimlico just took over Charles Town in May of this year. But they ran it successfully last fall on a lease arrangement, so they must know how to run the place and keep the prices down. Maybe Messrs Eisenhower and Nixon ought to find out how it is done at Charles Town and then tell the rest of the businessmen in the country so our dollar won't evaporate completely.

TEMPERAMENTAL THOROUGHBREDS

The new owner of Waterford Park's "give-away" mare, Galla Ator, will find that he owns a speedy - but notional - Thoroughbred. The 6-year-old daughter of Vibrator, who was presented free of charge to one of last Monday's patrons at Waterford, will bring both pleasure and worry wrinkles to her brand new owner. Her performances in the afternoon are both satisfying and heart warming; during morning workout hours she is as impetuous and flighty as a humming bird, and just to show her complete disregard for the rules she broke away from her handler while being paraded before a holiday throng at the race course and with a quick flick of her heels was off to places unknown.

Her behavior merely went to emphasize that no animal in all the world is as full of whims or whimsies as the Thoroughbred race horse.

A nervous filly who wouldn't eat was turned into a "good doer" by trainer Ben Jones who cut a window in her stall so that she could see her neighbor. Hirsch Jacobs was compelled to take up the board flooring in Stymie's stall so he could dig his feet into the good earth. The great Australian horse Carbine flatly refused to go out in the rain, and his trainer was once forced to accompany him to the post, shielding his ears with an umbrella.

While most horses have their own individual peculiarities, they share a common fondness for carrots, and it was upon this knowledge that the one time great colored rider, Isaac Murphy, predicated his success. The story is told that he would win a horse's friendship by petting him and crooning into his ears, all the while permitting him to nibble carrots from his hands.

Some horses won't perform their best unless they can run along the rail. The former great Misstep was one of these. That great stakes horse lost several major races when his rider attempted to bring him out around the field. At Waterford the good 3-year-old Luke Valentina will have none of the rail. He must be on the outside to do his best.

Phil D., a good race horse from the Far West a few seasons ago, was once barred from starting because of his bad post behavior. He was cured by permitting him to dunk his hay into his water bucket before eating it, and his trainer provided him with two buckets - one for dunking and one for drinking.

SYNTHETIC RACING STRIPS

A number of college track coaches are currently experimenting with a synthetic cinder path manufactured in San Francisco and marketed under the trade name of Grasstex. It is described as a "fiber-filled asphaltic emulsion". If it works out for human runners, we can be quite sure that it will be tried for equine runners as well.

Now! SCIENTIFIC NUTRITION¹¹ for ALL HORSES of ALL AGES and BREEDS with Vionate-L

... Squibb's new, HIGH POTENCY vitamin and mineral supplement formulated especially for horses... "palatized" for better taste... pelletized for easy use.

WITH THE INTRODUCTION OF VIONATE-L, scientific nutrition for horses has become a reality. Vionate-L is entirely new in formula and physical form, an ideal combination of high potency, reliability and convenience. Horse owners, sportsmen, breeders and trainers will find Vionate-L of tremendous benefit in improving the health, vigor and appearance of runners, trotters, jumpers, polo ponies, riding and show horses, and valuable horses of all breeds and purposes.

VIONATE-L contains 18 vitamins and minerals in a formula developed especially for horses. VIONATE-L is "palatized" to appeal to the horse's sense of taste and smell. Vionate-L is pelletized for easy use, never powdery or dusty.

BETTER HEALTH, GREATER STAMINA AND STAYING POWER. Vionate-L contains all 9 vitamins and 9 minerals known to be essential for good health, good bone, vigor and stamina in horses. (Grains and grasses often lack many of these vitamins and minerals or lose them during storage.) Vionate-L is recommended for horses of all ages to help keep them in prime physical condition with sleek, satin-smooth coats... to help keep the system "in tone"... to aid muscular coordination... to speed convalescence after sickness.

VIONATE-L COMBINES HIGH POTENCY WITH ECONOMY

You use a small quantity compared to less concentrated, less effective products - an important economy factor. Vionate-L contains: vitamins A, D₃, B₁, B₂, E, B₆, B₁₂, niacinamide, calcium pantothenate; minerals iodine, iron, cobalt, copper, magnesium, manganese, calcium, phosphorus and salt.

HELP BUILD GOOD BONE, VIGOR AND STAMINA WITH VIONATE-L. ASK FOR VIONATE-L AT YOUR VETERINARIAN, VETERINARY WHOLESALER, OR YOUR NEAREST SQUIBB BRANCH.

HOLLYWOOD TURF CLUB

(EDITOR'S NOTE: - Naturally the "modest press booklet" described below is a sumptuous production with colored covers and loaded with information and illustrations.)

To Our Friends of the Press:

Enclosed please find our modest 1959 press booklet in which we beg to offer a few gentle words and pastoral illustrations concerning our beloved Alma - HTC. As you know, "HTC" stands for "Horses Technical College", although for tax purposes the State of California prefers to bill it as "Hollywood Turf Club".

Our poor prose and Brownie snapshots can never do justice to the glories and beauties of our Alma Mater, but we hope that in some small way they may assist you in your enjoyment of the carefree racing semester that will be in session from May 8 to July 22.

As sometimes happens around old Almas, during the days of fun and frolic the student also accidentally gets a wee bit educated, and we trust that in your case some higher learning may rub off on such subjects as California Thoroughbred breeding, taxation benefits to the state, racing's contributions to welfare and Hollywood Park's whopping purses for the horsemen.

But whether or not our textbook succeeds in imparting any vast new knowledge, we do hope that it at least leaves you with the impression that Hollywood Park is a delightful campus to visit.

Peradventure you are the ultra studious type that insists on enrolling in one of our pari-mutuel courses, be assured that you will find our lovely Hollywood Park a most sublime spot for cashing in winning examination papers and a most soothing setting for philosophizing over those that just missed.

Academically yours,
Al Wesson, Director of Publicity

It's a real good picture too. You can tell that Clem is a chestnut and Round Table a bay. You can also see quite clearly the Rand colors of "Confederate Gray, blue cross sashes" on Clem.

Now all they need is photo finish pictures with sound, the sound of people tearing up mutuel tickets. R. J. Clark

THE CHRONICLE

SYNDICATES MINUS TWO-YEAR-OLDS

Hugh J. McGuire, who sets forth in his daily column in "The Morning Telegraph", many of the more interesting ideas currently circulating among horsemen, recently came up with this one: - "A novel proposal, which has reached only the discussion stage and may never go farther, has been broached. Members of a stallion syndicate would agree not to race any of his produce until they were 3-year-olds. As a compensation for losses thus incurred through lack of juvenile earning power, the stallion would be bred to many more mares than now are served by the average stallion. The breeding season would be extended, but late foals would have plenty of chance to 'catch up' before they became 3-year-olds. It was suggested that the foals would be much better racehorses for not having raced in this 2-year-old year."

SECOND IN IRISH GUINEAS

Lillet, a three year old filly by Anwar out of Flash of Wit, by Straight Deal, has been sold to the United States.

A winner at two years, she has run three times this season, winning the six furlongs Clondalkin Handicap at Naas with near top-weight, and then was beaten only a neck by Aly Khan's Fiorentina in the Irish One Thousand Guineas, in a field of nineteen.

• Alcide Wins King George VI Stakes

Peter Towers-Clark

Against ten rivals from four different countries, Sir Humphrey de Trafford's Alcide streaked away in the final furlong of the King George VI & Queen Elizabeth Stakes to win by two lengths from the six year old Irish mare Gladness, and thus set the seal on his greatness, for he is unlikely to race again. Worth 23,642 pounds, victory in Britain's most important all-age race raised Alcide's total earnings to 55,942 pounds which only ill-luck has probably prevented from being some 30,000 pounds more.

When favorite for last year's Derby, Alcide pulled a muscle and had to miss the race, and then by his facile victories in the Great Voltigeur Stakes and the St. Leger certainly made it appear that he must have won at Epsom had he been in the field, a view with which the Jockey Club handicapper concurred by placing him 5 lbs. above Hard Ridden in the Free Handicap. This year he was narrowly beaten a short-head by Wallaby in the Ascot Gold Cup in mid-June after having his preparation severely curtailed by a filled joint.

The majority opinion was that he must have beaten Wallaby in the Gold Cup had Captain Boyd Rochfort been able to give him the work that he wanted. The return match between the two in the King George VI was therefore all the more eagerly awaited, for neither had run in the meanwhile. Indeed this year's race was most exceptional, in that the three horses made favorite in the betting all proved stayers, Alcide and Wallaby being opposed by the 1958 Gold Cup heroine Gladness, owned by John McShain who twelve months ago won this great mile and a half race with Ballymoss. Although she had not run since her dismal failure in the Prix du Cadran (French Gold Cup) in May, Gladness was known to be well fancied by Vincent O'Brien and was so well backed that just before "the off" she displaced Wallaby as second favorite and caused an extension in the price of Alcide to 2-1, Gladness being at 9-2 and Wallaby 5-1.

The Classic generation was this year sparsely represented, for none of the best three-year-olds were acceptors for the race and the only two of the four second-season horses that appeared to have any chance of defeating their elders were the Queen's colt Pindari, who had missed the Derby but won the King Edward VII Stakes at the Royal Meeting, and the filly Cantelo, whose only defeat in eight previous races had been a decisive one by Petite Etoile in the Oaks. Three older horses came over from France, the 1957 runner-up Al Mabsoot who had Chief as a pacemaker, and the little fancied Balbo who had finished first in the valuable Prix Ganay earlier in the year, only to suffer disqualification, but whose subsequent form hardly seemed good enough. Completing the field of eleven was the much-travelled Orsini, known in most of the racing countries of Europe and a runner in last year's Washington D.C. International, who was nevertheless making his first appearance in England.

Cantelo looked as if she might be going to play up, as she had done on the same course last year, but as she came up in line they were away to a level break at the first attempt. Chief went straight into his place as pacemaker and, after half a mile, had an advantage of four lengths over Orsini and Balbo, with Cantelo, Gladness and Pindari all in a group, the last three at this stage being Alcide, Al Mabsoot and Wallaby. Coming to the turn with half a mile to go Orsini and Cantelo had closed almost up to Chief, as Alcide began to move up, but even at that stage Palmer could be seen to be at work on Wallaby in last place and getting no response.

Once in the straight the German horse went into a decisive lead apparently full of running, and it seemed that there might be a big surprise. With a furlong to go, however, Orsini began to lose his place as a full scale rush developed right across the course, Balbo, Gladness, Pindari and Alcide all striving for the lead, with Cantelo just behind them. Pindari was the first to find the pace too hot and Gladness took the lead off Balbo, but with just under 200 yards to go Alcide swept to the front with an irresistible rush that landed him a two lengths winner. Gallantly Gladness struggled to keep with him, but 1 1/2 miles is really below her best distance. Even in defeat she lost no prestige, being with last year's runner-up, Almeria, the only member of her sex to gain a place since the inauguration of the race. Three-quarters of a length away Balbo held third prize clear ahead of Cantelo, with Orsini fifth and Pindari sixth. In the last two, to the amazement of his connections, finished Wallaby, who had occupied the same position throughout. The time of 2:31.39 was a little more than one second over the course record.

So ended the ninth running of the race, which has now gone five times to four year olds and once less to second-season colts. The victory raised Sir Humphrey over Aly Khan to the top of the owners' list.

Alcide was bred by his owner, being by Alycidon out of the King Salmon mare Chenille which he bought at public auction eleven years ago for 3,100 guineas; she is also the dam of Lightning, dam of his Derby winner Parthia, so that final bid in December, 1948, was to prove a most important moment in his life. It is probable that Alcide will not race again but he will be syndicated to stand at stud next year.

Americans Triumph at White City

Lt.-Col. C. E. G. Hope

William Steinkraus, Hugh Wiley, George Morris and Frank Chapot, with horses First Boy, Riviera Wonder, Night Owl, Sinjon, Nautical, Tally Ho, Diamant, Ksar d'Esprit, came to London again in July to defend their 1958 titles - and how!

It was certainly Nautical's year - that great, gay dancing 14-year-old Palomino, who was going as almost a gift when he first visited White City in 1955. He is a personality among horses, beloved by British spectators, a determined character who has, I think, to be in the mood to put forth his best, and he was superbly and tactfully ridden throughout by Hugh Wiley. Let his record here speak for itself. In addition to winning two of the preliminary international competitions - the Manifesto Stakes and the Horse and Hound Cup - he helped Wiley to win the King George V Cup the Grand Prix of the R.I.H.S. - for the second year running and to bring off the rarely achieved double of the Daily Mail Cup; he took part in the winning of the Prince of Wales's Cup - the team trophy - and was not far off winning the puissance as well. In addition his performances enabled his rider to win the individual championships of the Show - the Saddle of Honour and the Loriners Cup. I cannot recall any single horse achieving such a record at the Royal International Horse Show.

Inevitably in the face of such brilliance the rest of the team was forced to play a supporting role, which they did most efficiently. Steinkraus had bad luck, on the first afternoon in that Ksar d'Esprit injured his stifle, slipping and coming down between jumps: Steinkraus took him over another jump before he realised there was anything wrong. In parenthesis, I would like to say that in my army days it was a custom always to trot a horse out after a bad fall wherever it occurred before remounting; it would be a good thing if the show jumping organizers were to introduce this rule and enforce it, stopping the clock for the purpose. To continue - Steinkraus won a good competition - the Nizefela Stakes - with First Boy, and with his habitual calmness and precision laid the foundations of the nations cup win by two fine rounds on Riviera Wonder, a horse very much in appearance like Ksar d'Esprit (who appeared no more) but with not yet his performance. Then he had a nasty fall on First Boy on Friday morning and, though not seriously hurt, took no further part in the proceedings. Chapot had some good rounds on Tally Ho and Diamant, and Morris with Night Owl and Sinjon, but none of these horses seemed up to form during the week.

The Opposition

What of the opposition? Their closest challengers were Paco Goyoaga of Spain, with Toscanella, and three British riders: Dawn Wofford, with Hollandia, Ann Townsend, with Bandit IV, and Colonel Blacker, with Workboy. The rest, I fear, were hardly in the picture, except for flashes, as when the young west country girl, Susan Connole, rode the big horse, Cubhunter, with commendable quietness to beat First Boy in the Metropolitan Stakes. E. Bull, from Norway, rode stylishly and well on his ex-racehorse, Advantage, but somehow just failed to get there. The Irish riders put up a better showing this year,

THE CHRONICLE

Griffin and O'Donohue in particular giving excellent displays, but they too lacked the final finishing polish so needful for victory.

The classic competitions at the Royal International Horse Show are, of course, the Queen Elizabeth II Cup, for women riders, the King George V Cup, for men riders, the Prince of Wales's Cup (nations cup), the Lonsdale Championship for the Moss Bros Cup (puissance), and the Daily Mail Cup (Victor Ludorum). Twenty girls qualified for the first, all British except one each from France (Madame Jose Bonnaud Savon and Charleston), Italy (Signorina Serventi and Doly), South Africa (Mrs. Cochrane and Captain Bligh) and Germany (Fraulein Anna Clement and Nico). Except for one difficult double, the 13-fence course did not appear unduly difficult, but only four came out to jump off, Nico, Doly, Mrs. Jill Banks and Earls-rath Rambler, and Ann Townsend and Bandit IV. Doly and Rambler had four faults each, then Bandit was well ridden for a clear in 44 seconds. The German girl and Nico then gave one of the best speed riding exhibitions of the week, polished, precise and well timed on a far from easy horse - 41.8 secs. So the Queen Elizabeth II Cup went to Germany for the first time.

Individual And Team Triumphs

Twenty one horses qualified for the King George V Cup - U.S.A. 7, Great Britain 6, Ireland 3, Spain 2, and one each from Germany, Norway and South Africa. The course was a long and nicely patterned one of 17 fences, with one hefty treble combination halfway round, making a critical point. The six clear rounds were Sea Hawk (Bob Grayston, South Africa), Night Owl (George Morris, U.S.A.), Toscanella (F. Goyoaga, Spain), Pat's Sister (Warren Wofford, U.S.A.), Advantage (E. Bull, Norway), and Nautical (Hugh Wiley, U.S.A.). Only Toscanella and Nautical survived to the second barrage: both, jumping superbly, came up again for the third and final one against the clock. This was too much for the Spanish horse, despite the artistry of Goyoaga, and they had 8 faults in 52 seconds. Then Nautical danced round with effortless gaiety, to win the cup again for Wiley.

Only 4 nations came in for the Prince of Wales's Cup, of whom the Americans were undoubtedly favourites. For once the forecast was correct, but it is not unkind to say that they did their best to lose! With the greatest calm George Morris took the wrong course at the outset and eliminated himself and Night Owl from the first round. Then Tally Ho, an uncertain horse, redressed the balance by one of the luckiest clear rounds I have ever seen. Riviera Wonder had four faults, and Nautical, appearing a little stiff after his Wednesday night exertions, jumped uncertainly for 8 faults. British riders went round steadily, three losing 4 faults apiece and one eight. The Irish and Spanish teams made much the same pattern, and all four started the second round level with 12 faults each. Ireland then amassed 15, team total 27. Spain had two clear rounds, Los Monteros and Mister B, and Goyanga and Sea Leopard - the latter getting a pair with the best riding seen in the competition; 11 team faults, total 23. Night Owl Found his way all right this time, with 4 faults; Tally Ho made 12; then Steinkraus and Riviera Wonder pulled them up again with a clear round - a classic piece of riding; Nautical, still a little uncertain, had 4 faults; 8 faults, total 20. Ann Townsend and Bandit IV put Britain on the map with a veteran's clear round; Hollandia (Dawn Wofford) failed again at the water and one other; Smokey Bob (Marshall Charlesworth) had 8 faults; Pat Smythe and Flanagan needed a clear round to equal the American score and force a jump-off. Under normal conditions she might have succeeded, but Flanagan needs hard riding and she could not get him right at the water; team score 12, total 24. So U.S.A. held the cup, with Spain second, Britain third, Ireland fourth.

The Puissance

Twenty-two horses started for the puissance on Friday night, and ten horses went into the first barrage. The piece de resistance was the white curved wall, which rose to 5 ft 6 ins. Smokey Bob fell - well and truly - by the wayside, and then there were nine. The wall at 6 ft and parallel bars 5 ft 6 ins sorted them out, and we were left with Nautical, Hollandia, Bandit IV and Red Admiral - a strong British recovery against the American invasion. The wall was 6 ft 6 ins, the parellel bars 5 ft 9 ins. Nautical brought down a block of the wall with his hind feet. The American-bred Hollandia flowed over both jumps like a jet from a hose pipe; Bandit went slower but with equal success. Alan Oliver and Red Admiral have so often been concerned in a final jump-off in this competition that I think we all hoped hard for him but it was not to be. Red Admiral would not take it, stopped violently at the wall and shot his rider head on into it, shaking him considerably. Then, as is the usual custom here, the management called it a day and divided the prize between the two girls, Dawn Wofford and Ann Townsend who had made history by being the first of their sex ever to win this competition at this show.

This was a good British rally, but the last. Out of 29 starters for the Daily Mail Cup six had clear rounds; over a reduced but higher course the same six appeared again: Workboy (Colonel Blacker, G.B.), Tally Ho (Frank Chapot, U.S.A.), Nautical (Hugh Wiley, U.S.A.) Toscanella (F. Goyanga, Spain), Ballynonty (K. P. Griffin, Eire), Hollandia (Dawn Wofford, G.B.). Against the clock, Workboy had 4 faults in 40 secs; Tally Ho 4 in 40.6; Nautical was clear in 41. This proved too good a time to beat without hitting something. Toscanella had 4 in 39.6; Ballynonty 4 in 40.2; then Hollandia looked like pulling it off, but Dawn Wofford did not really give him a chance at the penultimate gate - 4 in 37.6. So the Show ended with the sixth American victory.

HORSE SHOWS

Colorado Springs

High quality competition marked the Colorado Springs Junior League's 22nd annual horse show. Classes were well filled, courses were difficult and showed the high caliber of riding which has been developed in this region. From Denver, the Phipps sisters, Marta and Karen, strong riders on strong horses, and Sherry McMurtry who with her Navy Chief may always be counted on for a graceful, smooth and accurate ride were well matched by a Colorado Springs threesome of Jane Hart, Ellen Crockett and Jan Karabin.

Almost unbelievably the weather held clear throughout the four days of the show. One of the highlights came on the last day when Huntsman George Beeman of the Arapahoe gave a truly beautiful exhibition with 15 couple of hounds between hunter classes, the grass field set with jumps and the mountains rising up just behind making a perfect setting.

Dan Will's lovely chestnut mare Eternal Play gave rider Jan Karabin consistently good rounds to win both the Combination Hunter Championship and the Colonel Henry Leonard Memorial Trophy awarded to the outstanding horse in the show. Karen Phipps' Carousel Clown nosed out Fort Carson's Carry Over, ridden by Ray Wallen for the Jumper Championship and little Miss Elisa Fernandez, the furthest competitor from Chihuahua, Mexico, might have been acclaimed the most popular rider for her sporting rides despite a series of mishaps starting with detainment of her horses coming across the border. Harold (Bud) Tamblyn's Rocket deposited his owner-rider in the ditch in one class, but got back into his good graces by winning the Arapahoe Hunt Secretary's Challenge Cup, that most coveted trophy going to the high point winner among horses qualified with the Arapahoe. J. Arthur Reynolds took a long, mountainous, van ride from Tryon, N. C. to the Bluegrass of the Lexington Jr. League Horse Show, with his good mare, Will Do, and won the coveted working hunter tri-color over the largest field of horses ever entered in the state of Kentucky.

This chestnut mare by Danton-Dame Lady Woodford, was outstanding over a tricky outside course, and put in very brilliant rounds to win the Amateur, Handy, and Thoroughbred classes. Will Do was capably ridden by Bucky Reynolds and added the Lexington Laurels to titles won at Camden, Aiken, Tryon, Sedgefield and Savannah this season.

Bebe, Man O'War Farms' lovely ex-Virginian, was named reserve hunter champion with top trips in the open and stake events. In winning the stake, Bebe captured the second leg on the Jimmy Clyburn Memorial Trophy for owner Charles A. Dubois in the 14 and Under Hunt Seat, making a good show for Man O'War Farms, which had the biggest jumping contingent at the Trotting Track grounds.

In the open jumping section, Buckwin, a handsome 15-16ths bred buckskin gelding, really flung some high heels for the championship rosette. Owned by Cody Laird's Atlanta Oakridge Farms, and ridden by Bill Bolick over a short triple in and out course, Buckwin scored impressively to win first in the open and jumping stake classes. Young Greg Long from Cincinnati carefully took the Knock Down and Out over a mud soaked track, and was awarded reserve jumping honors of the show.

A record 56 well turned out entries competed in each class in the hunter division and judge Eric Atterbury felt that the quality and consistency were outstanding. There were good horses from all over the country and the general feeling is that this show could turn into the best hunter week in the South, in July. There are no conflicting dates in Virginia or Michigan and with jumping matinees and the saddle classes at night, the Lex-

Jr. League could reap many rewards from a Class A hunter and gaited show. Manager J. T. Denton, and jump chairman, Mrs. Smiser West, were so pleased with the entries and interest that plans are being made to add green, conformation, and junior divisions in 1960. The heart of the Thoroughbred industry is fast becoming a hunter headquarters too.

RUSSIAN TROIKA

Troika Exhibition

Cyrus Eaton's famous Troika, presented to the Cleveland industrialist by Nikita Kruscheshev, made its first appearance in the East at the Lancaster, (Pa), Horse Show in June.

The three gray matched stallions made a pretty sight as they circled the ring to the plaudits of the crowd, although it did somewhat make one's neck ache to watch the two outside horses whose heads were curved outward, secured in that position by reins.

According to tradition, the center horse, Natourshik, (Nature Boy), faces straight ahead and trots, while the two outside horses, Otklik, (Response), and Konus, (Cone), face outward and canter.

At Lancaster there was an innovation, however, in that the center horse twice was shown alone for the first time. This was because one of the two outside horses developed a slight injury, so the ensemble could not be shown that day. However, Natourschik gave the paying customers a run for their money, developing tremendous speed despite the fact he was pulling a heavy "charabanc" instead of a light-weight sulky. Ken Bresnan, their trainer, said they are thinking of running him at Roosevelt Raceway and it would be interesting to see if he could match the speed of the American Standardbred.

The troika horses are of the Orloff strain, a combination of Arab, Dutch, Danish and Russian harness horses developed 183 years ago by Prince Orlov. They appear to be larger, more "rangy," and not as precise as the standardbred horse. Mr. Eaton received the team last January, and has used them on his Acadia Farm at Northfield Ohio, and the troika has made a limited number of appearances at agricultural and stock shows. M.L.S.

Rolling Rock Hunt

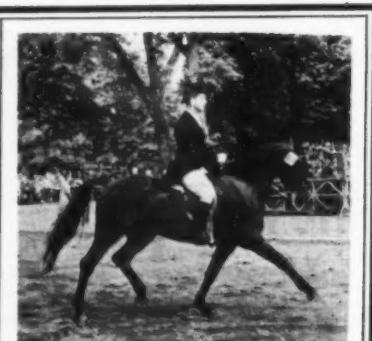

Miss Elspeth McCrostie of Edinburgh Scotland, did an excellent job of riding Miss Katherine Walker's filly to the Green Hunter Championship. The filly, Latiski (Peterski out of Lawn Fete) was bred and raised by Miss Walker, who is a staunch supporter of the Pennsylvania Horse Breeders Association. Mr. Speed owned by Miss Susan Klee and shown throughout the Western Pennsylvania show circuit by J. T. Hensely accounted for his third Green Reserve ribbon for the 1959 season.

Miss Margaret Humphrey took a double crown with her horse "The Sky" winning three classes in both the Working and Conformation Hunter Divisions. She tied for Reserve Working Hunter with her horse Golden Glen, and got the award on the hack-off.

Michael Lenehan riding in his usual good form took blues in all his equitation, horsemanship and Pony Club Classes and topped his show by winning the Loyalhanna Horse and Pony Perpetual Equitation Bowl.

Maryland Pony Show

This year's 15th performance of the Maryland Pony Show was noteworthy from a number of viewpoints. It broke all its own records for entries, attracting 40-odd in the novice division and similar numbers in the horsemanship for less experienced riders. Despite the unfavorable weather at Friday and Sunday sessions, more spectators appeared than ever before; the committee was delighted to see that Baltimore folk finally were becoming aware of this great, admission-free spectator sport available to them each July.

And one of the show's happiest facets was that the ribbons were so widely scattered, that not one championship race came to settlement until Sunday afternoon, which meant that lots of youngsters went home with ribbons - not just the tried-and-true champions.

Only one championship was a duplicate of last year; Jimmie Zimmerman took the equitation title for the second straight year after qualifying for the finals by winning the Gittings horsemanship, one of the Maryland Horse Shows Association's annual competitions. Reserve went to Maggie Horsky on her large pony, Country Boy, a former star of Arthur Godfrey's show string.

For the first time within memory, the novice championship went to a 2-year-old - Explorer, a handsome chestnut recently purchased for Deborah Cahn of Riderwood, Md. Explorer was the 1958 champion of the Maryland Pony Breeders Association yearling show for Charles Gartrell, who bred him. (The colt's full sister, Sally, won the crossbred championship this year at the Pony Breeders' show for Mr. Gartrell; both are by Sylvia's Comet-Fiddlestick.) Reserve champion among the tremendous novice contingent was Ann Reid's Misty Eye, ridden by Carolyn Clark. Little Miss Clark, who is Mrs. Reid's pony-riding protege since her own children have graduated to horses, is the daughter of Jockey Willie Clark, who rides on the Maryland circuit. A.H.C.

Roswell, N. M., Clinic And Rating Center

The Pecos Valley Horseman's Club of Roswell, New Mexico conducted its first riding clinic and rating center on May 25th under the instruction of W. Russell Walther, holder of a #1 Rating and Member of the Riding Committee of the Division for Girls and Women Sports of the National Education Association.

This was the first rating center to be held in the southwest where jumping has been part of the riding activities.

A group of thirteen riding instructors and junior riding students of the area participated. They received instruction twice daily. Most of the riders rode their own horses and watched with great interest the daily improvement of their horses under the D.G.W.S. schooling methods.

The riders performed individual program rides while others learned to judge and evaluate the efforts of the others.

At this time Claire Noyes, National Judge of D.G.W.S. and ex-chairman of the Riding Committee joined the group to assist in the rating of the candidates at the Rating Center.

The junior riders were Carol Morrison, Mary Jo Ingram, Paula Wiseman, Susan Wilmot, Linda Corn, Margaret French, Diana Schauer and John Ryan all of Roswell.

Senior riders were Dorothy Schauer, John Buscho, and Major Clarence Edmonds of Roswell, Ruth Bruhn of Carlsbad, N.M. and Susan Norton Jones of Tatum, N.M. Junior ratings were awarded to Carol Morrison and Paula Wiseman; senior ratings to John Buscho and Susan Norton Jones.

The President of the Pecos Valley Horseman's Club, Dr. Jack Wiseman, hoped that Roswell may become the location for the annual southwestern centers.

Much enthusiasm and appreciation for the D.G.W.S. methods of riding, teaching and schooling was created by the excellent instruction of Mr. Walther.

John Ryan, who was awarded a D.G.W.S. Rating at the Roswell, N. M. Center, demonstrates following hands and arms. (N. J. Hall Photo)

Chapel Hill

Sixty-three dollars, two-thirds of the $1.00 entry fees in all afternoon classes, were made for the U. S. Equestrian Team, Inc., at this small town which is the birthplace of Confederate General Nathan Bedford Forrest, the great cavalryman.

The eight afternoon pleasure hack and horsemanship events were sponsored by The Nashville Tennesseean.

Monte Foreman, the former cavalryman who has applied the principles of balanced seat equitation and horse training to western uses, won general acclaim as judge.

Holly Anderson, 11, and Joy Yearwood, 17, were the only two time winners. Balanced seat horsemanship and small pleasure ponies were Miss Anderson's victories, while Miss Yearwood scored in Thoroughbred pleasure horses and the champion pleasure horse events. M.L.W.

Versailles

Central Kentucky junior riders gave a good preview of the ability they would exhibit in the big Lexington Junior League horse show, when they jumped at Versailles, Ky. on July 6th.

Terry Ward, daughter of famed Thoroughbred trainer John Ward, took the juvenile class on her handy buckskin Colonel, and Rab Hagin won the large 18 and Over Hunt Seat event, with Johnny Dabney second.

Over twenty children competed on the lovely, springy, football field, and proved again that the Kentucky hunter crowd will provide three times as many show entries as the saddle horse contingent and that they are always the number one favorite with spectators. J.A.

Meadowbrook Junior

A strong wind and a bright sun greeted us on Sunday at the Meadowbrook show grounds. The show grounds belong to the Sharplesses who maintain the adjoining riding stable. Their horses, ridden by several promising horsemen, did very well throughout the day.

Leslie Wadsworth's Enough Luck combined "enough luck" and more than "enough ability" to win four blue ribbons which cinched the championship for her. Leslie Lockhart's lively Hillandale performed consistently throughout the day to earn a well-deserved reserve championship.

Frank Harvey's Shadow Tag was absent from the hunter classes but placed consistently in the open jumping division. She is only 15 hands high and yet she placed second in every jumping class over fences four feet in height.

The entries were very good, especially in the hack and children's classes which averaged 30 to 35 horses. This was outstanding as there were two other shows in the area on the same day. Flysheet

Nashville Jr. Riding Club

The 32nd annual horse show sponsored by the all girl Nashville Junior Riding Club was held for the second successive year in Franklin, 18 miles away. Since the State Fair Grounds became a lost land to horses after the 1956 Fair, the Juniors have had trouble finding a place for their show. The bulldozing of the historic mile oval shortly after the Junior show in June, 1957, converted the grounds from a center of horse activity to a center of stock car racing - and a horseless Fair.

At the daytime horsemanship and pleasure mount program, college girl Polly Peach and her big bay half-bred mare, Playgirl, were the star performers. Polly won hunter seat equitation 18 and up and was second in balanced seat equitation not over 18. Playgirl topped the open pleasure hack event over Rita Bama, Cheryl Sherling's winner of the Thoroughbred hack award.

Hillsboro

A Tennessee community can hardly be too small to stage a horse show. Hillsboro (alias Leiper's Fork) isn't even a post office, but its annual P.T.A. horse show held at the school grounds pulls in as many good horses as places four times its size.

The afternoon horsemanship and pleasure mount program grossed $40 (two-thirds of the $1 entry fees) for the U. S. Equestrian Team, Inc. The largest winner was the combination of Martha Hilton and Robin. Balanced seat equitation not over 12, the pleasure horse other than Thoroughbred class, and reserve champion hack were the victories.

BELVEDERE STABLES' VIXEN

Although cross-country work is highly desirable in making a cross-country horse, it is not absolutely indispensable. This was recently illustrated by the bay mare, Vixen, bred in North Dakota and owned by the Belvedere Stables which is situated in Leakin Park in the City of Baltimore. The stables have no access to open country nor are there any jumps on the park bridle paths. All schooling over jumps has to be done in the ring. Nevertheless, Vixen, ridden by Nancy Beasley, performed well in her only two cross-country trips to date, both in horse trials. The first was at Mr. and Mrs. Dean Bedford's Fox Hill Farm, Monkton, Md.

Harley Williams paced the Brandywine win with six goals. George Hass tallied the visitors singleton. John Greenleaf's goal for Blind Brook as the second period ended was disallowed due to a crossing penalty. Brandywine captain, George A. Santa Barbara Polo

John D. Alexander

Spectators at the Santa Barbara California Polo Club on July 19, saw two fine matches, with Menlo defeating Concar 7-5 in the opener and Oklahoma, defending National Inter-Circuit champion, beating Crescent Jewelers 9-7 in the second contest.

Internationalist Bob Skene, a 10-goal player, gave the large crowd a exhibition of scoring skill with - five goals for Menlo in the first contest, the most by one player for the day. John Oxley of Oklahoma and Bill Linfoot of Crescent Jewelers each had four goals in the second game.

The El Roble team of Mexico City captained by Erwin Anisz eclipsed a 4-1 Brandywine lead in the second period on markers by Anisz and Guillermo Cisneros to even the count at 4-all in the outdoor arena on June 10. Pat Honey, in the No. 1 position for the visitors, blasted three consecutive tallies in the first half of the decisive third period. Anisz scored from the sideboards on an angled shot about 30 yards out and Norm Taylor maced Brandywine's final goal at the bell. Spectacular defensive action on the part of both teams highlighted the final chukker in which Anisz scored the only marker to wrapup the match for El Roble.

Guests of the Association from the diplomatic corps in Philadelphia included the Honorable Alberto Genis-Avila, Consul of Mexico and the Honorable Dr. Arutro Pellerano Consul General of the Dominican Rep. and Mrs. Pellerano.

two plate glass windows. The store is located in one of the busy parts of town, right directly opposite the Hart Hotel.

Pete will be missed by a very large number of people. Certainly he was a very well known horseman in this area, so it would be seemly, I think, to disseminate this most lamentable news. Since he has been a very good friend of mine for well over a quarter of a century, you can realize how sorry I am to have had this happen.

Sincerely,
P. T. Cheff, M.F.H.
Battle Creek Hunt Club

National Museum of Racing

Saratoga Springs, N. Y.

Dear Sir:

Last year we received some very substantial gifts. Others were on the small side. Many deeply interested in racing failed to take advantage of this opportunity to really help the best side of racing.

However, to date we have reduced our total liability to approximately $120,000. The land and buildings cost $480,572. Of course it is difficult to put a value on the contents, but everything that we feel responsible for we have insured for over $100,000.

Our Museum, I think, is the only one of its kind in the country. In other sections we understand they are seriously thinking of following our example. Naturally we are anxious to pay off the deficit and so be in an outstanding position.

We do hope that you will give serious thought this year to putting the Museum on your list of donations. All contributions are tax deductible.

Faithfully yours,
Bayard Tuckerman

Ghost Rider

Dear Sir:

I saw your photo "Ghost Rider" in the Friday, June 19th issue. It is obviously a lady on a side-saddle. The horse with a blazed face looks much like one Dick Donnelly used to ride in the high jump at Madison Square. I believe that horse was owned by Miss Marie Louise Thompson who taught riding at the old Riding Club on 58th St. in New York. My guess is that it is Miss Thompson on the horse.

I believe Miss Thompson still lives in Litchfield, Conn. - so if she saw this she has no doubt written you already. The days I am speaking of were around 1918-1921, but perhaps this is too far back for the photo.

Anyhow it's a guess.

Pimlico's secretary looked up, thought for a minute and said. "Oh yes, you're the man from the Detroit Free Press. Aren't you?"

That, to Mr. Krehbiel, was worse than spelling his name incorrectly.

Mr. Krehbiel passed on three years ago, and now Uncle Matt is gone. Mr. Woods says he hopes that when they meet in the great beyond, they will recognize each other and that Uncle Matt will get the paper right.

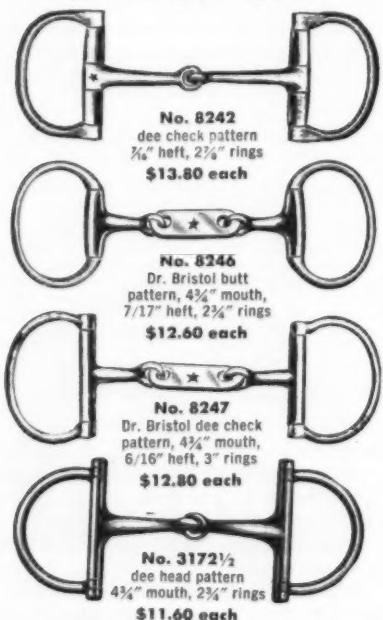

More About Heaven

Speaking of heaven, Mr. Woods says there's something else he's wondering about: When Joe Hernandez, the famous West Coast announcer dies and goes to heaven, will Malicious grab the microphone and cry, "And here comes Hernandez?"

Saratoga Yearling Dams

A most impressive group of race mares will be represented this year during the 39th annual Saratoga Yearling Sales which will be conducted by Fasig-Tipton Company, Inc., with nightly vendues from August 10th through August 14th. Among the stakes winners are mares who have won some of the outstanding events both in this country and abroad.

Among the American-bred matrons is the stakes winner Brazen Brat whose bay colt by Hasty Road is in the Kentmere Farm, agent consignment. During her racing career, Brazen Brat won 28 races, including the Rancocas Stakes, Regret, Captiol, Burch Memorial, Keswick Stables' Spanish Cream, whose yearling is a bay colt by Double Jay, accounted for 14 races, her major victories being in the West Coast stakes La Flores, Santa Maria and Santa Margarita Handicaps.

In Mereworth Farm's consignment is a chestnut colt by Royal Serenade out of the stakes winner Allie's Pal. This matron captured 18 races, numbering among them such as the Newcastle, Molly Pitcher and Columbiana Handicaps. Also in this group is a bay colt by Nashua out of the stakes winner Windmill, accounting for 26 races. This colt, a member of the first crop of the second leading money winning horse in the world, is a half-brother to four winners. Woof, a stakes winning daughter of Bull Dog, is represented in this consignment by a chestnut filly by On Trust. Woof's 15 winning outings included the Narragansett Park Lassie Stakes and the New England Handicap, and she is the dam of the stakes winners Mals Boy and Nubesna. The second Nashua in this group is a chestnut filly who is the first foal out of the stakes winner Trisong who accounted for the Prioress Stakes and the Step Lightly Handicap.

The only Citation to be sold is a chestnut filly out of Newstead Farm's Guayana whose stakes winning efforts accounted for the Columbiana and Barbara Frietchie Handicaps. Bwamazon Farm, Inc., is selling a bay colt by Hill Prince out of the winner of the National Stallion Stakes and Jasmine, Green Baize.

Two previous winners of the Empire City Demoiselle Stakes are Rigan McKinney's O'Alison and Bertram N. Linder's Ghost Run. The former's yearling is a dark gray filly by Native Dancer and the latter's is a dark bay colt by Phalanx.

Stakes winners abroad who have either been imported to this country or whose now yearlings were foaled abroad include some outstanding individuals who will be represented this year at Saratoga.

Rockburn Farm's imported Masaka lists among her stakes winning efforts the Epsom Oaks, Irish 1000 Guineas, Irish Oaks, Queen Mary, July and Whitsuntide Foal Stakes. Her yearling is a bay colt by Ambiorix. Newstead Farm's imported chestnut colt by Fair Trial is out of the outstanding French mare Banassa whose successful stakes outings included winning efforts in races with colts as well as fillies and she was also second in the Prix de l'Arc de Triomphe and the Washington D. C. International.

Never out of the money as a 2-year-old is part of the record of the mare Weighbridge whose imported chestnut colt by Aureole is part of Newstead Farm's consignment. She won the Moulton Stakes, Chesterton Stakes, Plantation Stakes and Suffolk Nursery Handicap all of which were run at Newmarket.

A colt to be sold at Saratoga by Helioscope comprises Burrland Farm's consignment. This individual is out of the imported matron, Rivaz, a full sister to Nasrullah, whose stakes accomplishments included the Queen Mary, Bedford and July Stakes.

Another imported mare, Ariostar, will be represented in the consignment of Morven Stud and Egern Farm with her brown colt by Double Jay. During her racing career, Ariostar won the Granville Stakes (by five lengths) and the Wilbraham Stakes and was beaten a head in 1000 Guineas.

Other stakes winners whose produce of will be sold at Saratoga are: Nympha Menalippe, Fast Gall II, Brenton Light, Fast Jane, Five Spots, Gainsborough Lady, Mi-Marigold, Nato II, No Strings, Silver Sal, Close-reefed, Jewel II, Pegeen, Al-mahmoud, Dida, Legendra, Misdeameour, My Emma, Naval Glory, Riant, Seville, Trackabu, Adversaria and Cheboygan.

PIMLICO CONSTRUCTION

Construction that will nearly double the seating capacity of Pimlico's modern steel and aluminum stand opened in 1954 is approaching the half-way mark, Executive Director Louis Pondfield reported today.

The 140-foot extension to the five-floor structure will be opened to the public for Pimlico's 28-day autumn meeting, November 13 through December 15.

Complete length of the extended building will be 360 feet. The entire front facade is being enclosed in glass and a new interior heating system added for comfort during the annual autumn season.

The main reserved seat section will number nearly 5,000 with approximately 325 boxes containing four and six seats each. New escalators to all levels are being installed in the extended section to supplement those in the existing structure.

Another primary benefit of the current work is that it will completely eliminate all conflicting sight lines which existed between certain seating areas of both the new and old stands because of architectural discrepancies. There will be a full view of the complete running strip from all seats.

German Opinion of U.S. Team

The May-June issue of the German publication "Rider and Driver Magazine" devotes its leading article of 12 pages, illustrated with many photographs, to an analysis of the U. S. Equestrian Jumping Team, its development, training, horses, riders and coach. A partial translation of the article reads - The performance of the team in Aachen in 1958 started a lively discussion among German experts. It was generally admitted that such uniformity of riding had not been seen since the days of the jumping team of the German Cavalry School. The four members of the team all rode forward, with quiet and deep hands. No roughness was displayed, no jerking on the horses' mouths between and in front of the jumps.

One faction maintained that the classical style could not be maintained over today's jumping courses. A middle group contended that this style, although possibly successful in team classes, could not succeed in individual classes where time was a factor.

Coach de Nemethy's training methods combine Italian principles and the classic German school which he learned in Hungary, Italy and Germany before coming to the United States. He is not in favor of too much dressage work, which he believes is not altogether suited for the Thoroughbred and near Thoroughbred horses of his team, although he fully realizes that it may be essential for a number of the heavier, cold-blooded horses commonly used for jumping competitions in Germany. Instead he works his horses over cavalettis and over all kinds of obstacles, changing the distances and heights in order to balance the horses gymnastically and to enable them to take-off more or less by themselves at any moment and in any situation. He also makes liberal use of the lunge line to correct stiffness and tension in the horse.

When de Nemethy took over only the captain of the team, William Steinkraus had had much international experience. In consequence, the coach put his less experienced riders on the most experienced horses, letting the latter act as instructors.

In every class they enter, the U. S. riders perform strictly according to their coach's instructions. Until they had acquired more experience, de Nemethy did not concentrate on fast time over fences, preferring that his charges learn first to ride in proper form. It is only this year (1959) that he has allowed his riders to go all out.

The outstanding success of the team this year, at Rome and elsewhere, has made its former German critics look absurd.

U.S. TEAM AT WIESBADEN

Col. Richard A. Abe, the editor of the "Sankt George" writes in the June 1 issue about the performance of the U. S. team as follows:

"The U.S.A. team presented itself in the very best condition. They were mounted on hunter type or Thoroughbred horses. The team showed extremely well under the watchful eyes of its successful trainer, Bert DeNemethy. It is always a great pleasure to see the slim American riders in the saddle. They ride forward between the jumps like the devil and take back their horses skilfully and hardly visibly in front of the obstacles. Then they take off like an arrow, follow the movement of their horses over jumps wonderfully, and never disturb the horses with their hands. They are ready for any situation - real gentlemen riders!"

VIRGINIA HORSE SHOWS ASSOCIATION

The Board of Directors have added the following to the protest rule on page 127 of the Rule Book:

It shall be the duty of Show Committee receiving a protest to review it promptly, to hold a hearing, and to obtain, from the principal witnesses, entry blanks and other proper sources, necessary information and evidence. The Show Committee shall adjudicate the issue impartially and make effective its findings upon the parties in interest.

In the event such Show Committee fails, neglects or refuses to hold a hearing as above provided for within 15 days after such protest has been filed with the Secretary of the Show, or in the event such hearing has been held but in the further event that such Show Committee shall fail, neglect or refuse to adjudicate the issues within 15 days after such hearing, then and in either event the Board of Directors may on its own motion take original jurisdiction of the protest, order up from such show all relevant documents and papers and proceed to a final adjudication of the protest either by holding a hearing before it or by referring the protest to a committee appointed by the President for a finding of facts and recommendation to be reported back to the Board of Directors.

A.H.S.A. SHOW DATES

Though the 1959 season is only halfway over, the American Horse Shows Association urges those who have settled on a show date for 1960 - even a tentative one - to apply now for a listing. Date applications have already been mailed. Although dates will not be official until after the Annual Convention in January, this will help avoid future complications and enable the office to set up the list of Recognized Show Dates for 1960 much earlier.

THE CHRONICLE

ATOA COMMITTEE

Recently named as members of the committee to represent the American Thoroughbred Owners Association in the Delaware-Maryland area are Gough Thompson of Baltimore, Md.; Mrs. Richard C. duPont of Wilmington, Del.; and Cortright Wetherill of Newtown Square, Pa. Mr. Thompson, who got into racing via the steeplechase field in the 1920's, races under the name of Roslyn Farms. Mrs. duPont, owner of the Bohemia Stable, campaigned Ambehaving, the first horse to win New Jersey's three two-year-old events - the New Jersey Futurity at Monmouth Park, the Home Bred Handicap at Atlantic City and the New Jersey Breeders' Stakes at Garden State Park. Mr. Wetherill, a member of The Jockey Club, who races under the name of Happy Hill Farm, is married to the former Ella Widener. Probably their best horse has been Kingmaker.

VIRGINIA HUNTERS AT LEXINGTON

Horses, previously owned and exhibited in Virginia, abounded at the recent Lexington, Ky., Jr. League show. Man o'War Farm's Bebe, '57 V. H. S. A. green working winner was reserve hunter champion, and the conformation greats, Sun Dial, and The Cad, also performed well for new owner Charles A. Dubois.

Mrs. William Greenhalgh's Never Say When won a huge hack class, and Will Do, consistent at Upperville, earned the working championship for J. Arthur Reynolds. Sweet William, a former Cappy Smither, was in the ribbons under A. J. Long colors, and Itch, started by Waverly Farm, had several good go's with Nancy Laird of Atlanta, up.

MRS. HARDIN

Mrs. Ruth Hardin, hunter enthusiast from Lexington, Ky., has returned to the big time show ring with Mr. Deliberate, a handsome bay three year old by Deliberator. At Bloomfield Hills and Grosse Pointe, he was in the money in five of eight green conformation classes over fences and in the Metamora July show, he was second in the open and stake. Mr. Deliberate is being trained and shown by the capable Bob Egan.

Mrs. Hardin also developed the good Tola Rose gelding, Field Goal, that was exhibited so successfully for several years in the Chicago area. She hunts regularly with the Lexington Iroquois pack on the veteran ribbon winner, General Gerry, and is well remembered for her trips on the comical performer Gobbler, when she was a resident of St. Louis and a member of Bridlespur.

SARATOGA PREVIEW

A Preview Showing of Saratoga Sales Yearlings will be held in the Sales Arena, Madison & East Avenues, Sunday afternoon, August 9, at 3:00 P.M. KIPPY SCOTT-MALCOM

Carina (Kippy) Scott-Malcom is in the Phillips House of the Massachusetts General Hospital, Boston, recovering from an operation to re-set a leg broken a year ago when she was schooling for a Pony Club Rally.

Chronicle Cover

Marguerite, bred by the late Arthur B. Hancock and Edward Simms, was not fully tested as a race mare. The daughter of Celt-*Fairy Ray, by Radium, made only one start at two, in 1922; and failed to place.

But as a producer for the late William Woodward's Belair Stud, she became a real "blue hen". Before her death in 1945 she had nine foals, the first two by *Wrack and the other seven by *Sir Gallahad III. Each of her four sons were stakes winners and sires; and each of her five daughters became stakes-class producers.

Her first foal, Petee - Wrack, by *Wrack, won the Travers Midsummer Derby, Suburban, Metropolitan, Philadelphia, Twin City, Baltimore and Merchants' and Citizens' Handicaps. Her second son, Gallant Fox, was the three-year-old champion of 1930, taking the "Triple Crown", Arlington Classic, Dwyer and Flash Stakes, Lawrence Realization, Junior Champion, Wood Memorial, Saratoga and Jockey Club Gold Cups, and $328,165. His full brother Fighting Fox captured the Grand Union Hotel Stakes, Wood Memorial, Jamaica, Wilmington, Carter, Fleetwing, Massachusetts and Paumanok Handicaps, and $122,000. Another full brother, Foxborough, raced on both sides of the Atlantic Ocean; he gained English decisions in the Middle Park and Hopeful Stakes, and American triumphs in the Butler and Yonkers Handicaps.

Gallant Fox, shown as a foal at foot in the cover picture by Edwin Megargee, had two fine first crops, including Omaha, Flares and Granville; but thereafter got nothing of great merit. Fighting Fox proved a more successful stallion, siring such good performers as Fighting Step, Fighting Frank, Bonnie Beryl, Crafty Admiral and Euclid.

Marguerite's only daughter to win was Lucky Pledge, who placed in the Pimlico Oaks. She foaled Word of Honor, third in the Saratoga Cup.

Her three full sisters all became stakes producers. Marigal foaled Uncle Seaweed (Chevy Chase Steeplechase Handicap), My Emma (Hannah Dustin Handicap) and Lone Eagle (Ascot Gold Vase, Queen Elizabeth, Burwell and Hastings Stakes in England; and Saratoga and Manhattan Handicaps in the United States). Marguerite dropped Whirling Fox (Long Branch Handicap), Twirler (Chesterton Stakes in England) and Marullah (Sorority Stakes). And Marshino is the dam of The Senator (Hyperion Stakes in England).

Marguerite's first daughter, Anastasia, by *Wrack, foaled the stakes-placed sire Sirasia.

WELSH PONIES IN WASHINGTON - Members of the Crist family of Port Townsend, Washington, hold their stallion Coed Coch Tlws, recent winner of the Stallion Class in the Washington Pony Breeders second annual show; their now white broodmare Craven Toscalight; and the three fillies which are the produce of this mating.

REX ELLSWORTH

In accordance with the revised constitution and by-laws adopted by the Horsemen's Benevolent and Protective Association in Baltimore last spring, president Irving Gushen has named Rex Ellsworth of California, breeder of Swaps and owner of one of the greatest bands of broodmares in the world, as Vice President of West Coast Region of the H.B.P.A.

EDWARD LASKER

Edward Lasker, Beverly Hills attorney, and longtime breeder and owner of Thoroughbreds racing on both coasts, was elected to the Board of Directors of the Fasig-Tipton Company in the place left vacant by the death of Henry H. Knight. Mr. Lasker has also been elected to the board of the Fasig-Tipton of California.
